The Olympic Games, held every 4 years, is one of the great global occasions where people from every country in the world, no matter how big or small, come together to compete in an astonishing variety of sports. The richness of cultures and languages only enhance the experience for all the participants and communication between them. It is truly a mighty force for togetherness and inclusion.

We've all enjoyed the Olympics in Tokyo. Why not using this important event for one of our first lessons of the year?
